Claim C5 Wings Need Replaced; Would Hike Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scientific advisory board reportedly has told the Air Force efforts to fix a critical wing crack in the giant Lockheed C5 transport will not work and an entirely new wing design should be considered for the troubled plane.

The panel, according to the weekly Armed Forces Journal, reported to Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans earlier this month the giant plane comes up to only a quarter of the Military Airlift Command's requirement of 30,000 hour maximum design fatigue life.

The Air Force would confirm only that Seamans met with the chairman of the blue-ribbon panel May 4 and that the panel's report would not be completed until mid-June.

"Since the report has not been completed, the Air Force has no comment on its findings or recommendations at this time," it said in a statement.

The panel, headed by Dr. Raymond L. Blisplinghoff, dean of engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was appointed last February after a crack, 8 to 10 inches long, was found in one of the C5s undergoing wing modifications at the Lockheed plant in Marietta, Ga.

Say Apollo 13 Oxygen Tank Bad On Ground

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Wiring insulation inside an oxygen tank which exploded on Apollo 13 may have been seriously damaged before the ill-fated moon mission was launched, the chairman of the committee studying the space accident says.

Edgar M. Cortright, chairman of the Apollo 13 review board, said Wednesday that several days before the launch the tank had been filled with oxygen for a rehearsal, and afterwards workmen were unable to drain it in the normal way.

He said special procedures were then used to remove the oxygen, and these "probably resulted in major damage to the wiring insulation" inside the tank.

The tank exploded April 13, as Apollo 13 was more than half-way to the moon. The explosion blew off a panel of the service module, destroyed the spacecraft's major supply of oxygen and electricity, forced cancellation of the moon landing and seriously endangered the astronauts.

Cortright said the possibility of damage during the drainage operation was discovered during recent tests at the Beech Aircraft plant in Boulder, Colo. The special drainage procedures were duplicated at Beech, which manufactures the tank.

Cortright also said it now appears that two switches designed to keep heaters in the oxygen tank from overheating may also have failed. Tests have shown, he said, that such a failure would cause temperatures in the tank to reach 1,000 degrees.

"Such temperatures would have caused serious damage to the insulation around the heater wires," Cortright said. "The insulation damage could have resulted in short circuits to institute the combustion of insulation inside the tank."

This burning would, in turn, cause pressure to rise in the tank, eventually forcing the tank to explode.

"Additional tests are under way to try to determine the manner in which the tank finally failed and what mechanism was needed to cause the outer panel to blow off," Cortright said.

Members of the review board will receive results of all the tests at a meeting on Monday.

A final report from the board will be submitted June 8 to Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Black Cinema Production Set In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Brothers and sisters, wake up and dig yourselves!"

With that charge in mind, a group of young blacks in the West Philadelphia ghetto will soon begin filming a full-length color motion picture, "Nature, Games and Raw Eyes."

The script calls for a three-hour film with a cast of 250. The film will be owned, produced, staffed and cast entirely by blacks.

Screen writer Henry J. Anderson, at 27 one of the oldest members of the film company, says: "Our people all come from the streets. We've always lived the ghetto life. It's part of us and we're part of the changes that must come."

Consumer Protection Bill Hinges On 1 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A powerful legal weapon designed to keep merchants honest—the class action suit—faces an uncertain fate in its first congressional test next week because of Nixon administration opposition.

The administration and business groups are attempting to scuttle the bill in favor of a counter proposal which class action backers call a "consumer fraud" in itself.

The class action bill comes before the House Interstate Commerce Subcommittee Tuesday. One of its sponsors says the outcome depends on the swing vote of one Democrat.

The bill would permit an individual to file suit on behalf of thousands of consumers. Presently, an individual seldom goes to court to recover, say, $50 because the court costs would exceed the judgment.

If an individual could file suit on behalf of thousands, proponents add, the judgment would be large enough to make merchants wary of attempting to deceive the public.

The Nixon counter proposal sharply limits the field for class action suits by only allowing a suit once the Justice Department sues, and then only if that suit is successful. Comparable government actions have taken 20 years.

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, the President's consumer assistant, originally testified in favor of the class action but now lobbies against it because of White House pressure, charged Bess Myerson Grant, New York City's consumer commissioner.

Mrs. Grant urged Congress "to stand up to the pressures being mounted by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, the American Retail Federation and others."

"We will not be fooled by a fake reform, like the administration's counter measure, a so-called 'consumer protection bill,' so riddled with loopholes, exceptions, qualifications and elaborate triggering mechanisms that it is itself a consumer fraud," Mrs. Grant said.

"Existing laws make fraud illegal," she said, "but they do not make fraud unprofitable. In the consumer field today fraud pays off too often."

Elements of the business lobby say legitimate firms would be damaged by the bill. Advocates say only bad practices would stand up as profitable court targets.

The subcommittee consists of five Democrats and four Republicans. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., predicted the GOP members will vote as a unit, with an undecided Democrat left with the swing vote.

If the bill clears the subcommittee, Eckhardt said, it has brighter prospects in the full committee and on the floor of the House.

A similar measure sponsored by Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., has been approved by his own Senate Commerce Committee.

The Magnuson bill is a federal instead of state approach and would, according to Eckhardt, require lengthy building of federal court precedent before being effective. The House bill, Eckhardt said, draws on substantive state law and could be effective immediately.

Nixon Appeals To Business Leaders To Curb Prices

Reds Continue Cambodian Push

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops fought their way into the Cambodian provincial capital of Prey Veng early today, but they were reported withdrawing later in the day after street fighting.

On other Cambodian fronts, North Vietnamese troops captured a district headquarters on the highway between Phnom Penh and Angkor Wat, the country's chief tourist attraction, and ambushed an American artillery convoy near Mimot.

The North Vietnamese also stepped up their attacks in South Vietnam's northern provinces, but military spokesmen said at least 93 of the enemy were killed in that sector.

The U.S. Command reported that the total of American combat deaths in the war dropped last week to their lowest weekly toll since American forces crossed into Cambodia on May 1. The weekly casualty summary said 142 Americans were killed and 808 wounded, including 61 dead and 249 wounded in Cambodia.

A Cambodian military spokesman said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces which had virtually surrounded Prey Veng for more than two weeks opened an attack at 1 a.m. today, and forward elements of the enemy force punched into the city 30 miles east of Phnom Penh.

Street fighting was reported still going on after dawn, but the spokesman said later word indicated the attack force was withdrawing.

Prey Veng is one of the Cambodian army's last major positions east of the Mekong River except for areas where South Vietnamese and American troops are operating.

In another assault today, the Cambodian spokesman said Communist troops captured Tang Krasang, a district capital 65 miles north of Phnom Penh on the highway to Angkor.

The total number of Americans killed in battle last week was 35 per cent less than the previous week's 217. A spokesman attributed the drop to consolidation of American areas of operation in Cambodia. A communique said U.S. casualties in all Cambodian operations now total 225 killed and 833 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 734 of its troops were killed in action last week, 25 per cent more than the week before, and 2,080 were wounded.

The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 3,321 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong last week, 403 less than the week before.

Direct Controls Are Ruled Out By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in an unusual direct appeal has asked the nation's businessmen to help the government's war on inflation by keeping their prices in check.

In 2½ hours of private give-and-take with 45 business and financial leaders Wednesday night, the President also tried—with apparent success to calm their doubt about his decision to move troops into Cambodia.

The executives, according to several who were there, told Nixon the Cambodia decision was a major factor in the stock market's plunge. He responded that, whether the nation realizes it or not, the military move will hasten the day of withdrawal from Vietnam.

"We were very encouraged," one businessman said afterward. "It was a good meeting," another said. A third said the group's reaction was "very positive regarding his general programs."

Those who consented to review the meeting insisted that their names not be used. Most of Nixon's guests refused to comment, and the White House furnished no information.

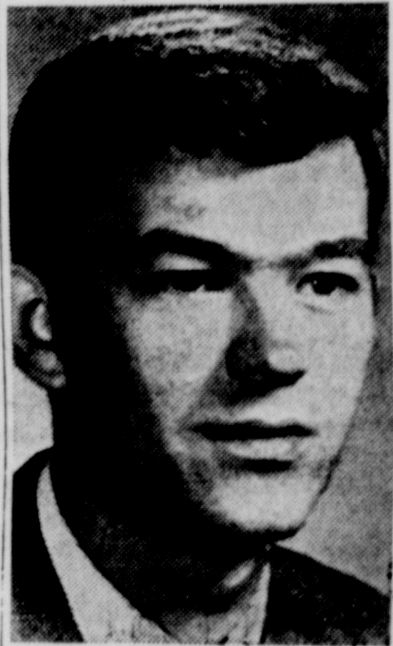

The guest list was heavily weighted with heads of financial institutions, indicating Nixon's primary concern was to reassure the jittery market. But he also discussed domestic economics and his problems with young people, and Chairman Arthur F. Burns discussed the Federal Reserve Board's policies.

Nixon told the group he had wartime experience with wage and price controls and found them unfair to some at the expense of others. He remains opposed to mandatory controls, but indicated a willingness for business and labor to curb their price and wage demands voluntarily.

In the words of one businessman, he "expressed a commendable aversion to a controlled economy—wage and price controls, that is. He sort of called upon business and labor to cooperate with government in voluntary wage and price controls. At least that's the way I interpreted it."

Minipigs Sold For Research By University

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — Minipigs are little piggies going to market in increasing numbers, but not to become pork chops, roasts or sausages.

The small swine are the product of 20 years of selective breeding by researchers at the University of Minnesota's Hormel Institute. Now the researchers have enough to sell some to other laboratories for use in medical research.

Pigs, more than almost any other experimental animal, have digestive, glandular, respiratory and blood circulation systems similar to man's, and much the same kind of skin. But size has been a stumbling block to using them for research.

Red Cross Volunteers Recognized For Service

SPECIAL RECOGNITION — Seven high school senior girls were given special Red Cross recognition in ceremonies Wednesday night. Three in attendance were, from the left, Cheryl Pence, Judy Gulick and Bonnie Long. Red Cross Volunteers are required to give 50 hours a year of their time in service to the community. The seven girls accumulated a total of 2,351 volunteer hours of service.

Pickaway County Chapter American Red Cross Volunteers and Volunteers were recognized Wednesday night in ceremonies at Community United Methodist Church.

Recognition or "respect made visible" was given to new Volunteers present, June Cassill and Nancy Hartley along with volunteers who have recently completed training. Capping ceremonies were performed by Red Cross Volunteer Mrs. Pat Bevins.

Special recognition was given seven senior girls who have given service to the community as Red Cross Volunteers four and five years. Required to give active service of 50 hours a year, these girls have accumulated a total of 2,351 hours of volunteer duty during the past 10 month period. Of the seven graduating seniors, three plan to extend their volunteer training and will enter nursing school following high school graduation.

The girls are Cynthia Barnhill, Barbara Corne, Judy Gulick, Mary Beth Hughes, Bonnie Long, Cheryl Pence and Sandra Smith.

Mrs. Herman Will, volunteer chairman, in giving recognition to Red Cross Volunteers, reviewed the number of hours and years each volunteer, both men and women, had given in service to the local community and Chillicothe VA Hospital through Red Cross.

A pot luck supper preceded recognition services attended by Red Cross officers and board members, volunteers, volunteers and families.

In a brief business session of the Board of Directors, a slate of officers for 1970-71 was submitted by nominating committee chairman Mrs. John Sanders and approved.

record-breaking 32.04-point increase in the key Dow-Jones Industrial stock index when New York Stock Exchange Chairman Bernard Lasker pointed out it was the largest rally in exchange history, the source said.

The dinner meeting grew out of Lasker's earlier visit with Nixon.

As far as the economy in general was concerned, guests reported Nixon repeated the administration's prediction that business will turn upward in the July-September quarter.

Burns said the Fed would not be "rigidly bound by theoretical numerical formulas" for the money supply. Even though the credit-regulating agency has begun to loosen up on its restraints it is not going to start a new policy that could encourage new inflation, he reportedly said.

Nixon spoke in conciliatory terms about the unflattering view many young people hold about his administration and— he pointed out—about American business.

Though he obviously doesn't agree with dissenting young people, one source said, he didn't harangue about them, instead speaking about the need to "open new avenues of communication" in an effort to get a better understanding of the nation's real problems.

The 32.04-point increase in the Dow-Jones index Wednesday was the largest single-day jump in the market's history and brought the index to 663.20, giving hope the nearly vertical decline that began in April may be turning around.

Despite the stock market news and some recent economic statistics interpreted by the administration as indicating the troublesome business slowdown is leveling off, the President is beset from all sides by criticism and suggestions that he should take sterner action to control inflation.

Democrats on the House Banking Committee said Wednesday they had agreed to draft legislation to give him authority to freeze wages, prices and rents at their May 25 levels.

Such legislation, which is just the sort Nixon and his advisers have said repeatedly they want no part of, apparently would be a companion piece to the stand-by credit control authority Congress gave him last December.

The committee plans extensive public hearings on the legislation.

isolation sometime next month.

Even Republicans got into the act. Some GOP members of the Joint Economic Committee said they would favor requiring the Council of Economic Advisers to publish monthly statements on wage-price decisions. Their resolution would in effect force the administration to say publicly what level of increases it considers inflationary.

Outside of Congress, and even within his own administration, the President has heard criticism. Housing Secretary George Romney called for the formation of a presidential commission to spotlight inflationary wage and price settlements, and Burns said some sort of governmental persuasion policy might have a modest effect in bringing prices under control.

David Rockefeller, chairman of New York's Chase Manhattan Bank, earlier this week suggested Nixon make a direct public appeal for wage and price restraint.

Berger Board Will Seek Accreditation

Berger Hospital's Board of Governors plans to concentrate efforts this year on receiving accreditation for the city-county hospital.

Indications are that a trial inspection will be completed during June and application will be made later for an actual inspection by the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation.

Mayor Richard Gerhardt, board chairman, noted he was hopeful the actual inspection would be completed before the first of the year due to an increase in standards effective in 1971.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

'Realistic' Dolls Upset Readers

DEAR ABBY: Your approval of a "Mamma doll" who could have a "baby doll" horrified me, too.

I have young children and I know how they play, and it's not necessary for them to have such toys. A baby being born is beautiful and sacred, and not something for dirty-minded little boys to snicker at. And don't tell me young boys are not dirty-minded, because they are!

You may say, "If you don't want these toys, don't buy them," but how can you keep your children from seeing them if their playmates have them?

If sex is thrown at children too young they will be tempted to try it out the first chance they get. They will be doing what their toys will do and I think the toy makers owe it to our young folks to keep their toys clean. Even dolls with busts were a little too much for me.

ALSO HORRIFIED

DEAR ABBY: I have six grandchildren, and I am much more "horrified" to see them playing with toy tanks, machine guns, and pistols than I would be to see them playing with a doll who can wet her pants and give birth. Wetting the

Voting Age Plan Fails In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon voters refused Tuesday to lower the voting age to 19. Advocates of the change said community reaction to campus troubles was responsible.

"I have to admit that bitterness is my gut reaction," said Earl Blumenauer, 21, chairman of the campaign.

Nearly two-thirds of the voters rejected the age change. More than half of the state's one million voters went to the polls.

Gov. Tom McCall said he was sorry and so did State Treasurer Robert Straub, both of whom campaigned for the 19-year-old vote.

McCall had envisioned the outcome earlier when his office was flooded with letters of protests to campus disturbances.

"The 19-year-old vote is down the drain," he said as he observed reaction to the Portland police riot squad moving onto the Portland State University campus to end a demonstration.

Blumenauer, a senior at Lewis and Clark College in Portland, said: "The same backlash that we experienced will be felt in Congress." He predicted failure of any federal effort to lower the voting age.

Such dolls teach youngsters that they can never have too many clothes.

Everything today is "commercialized." Toy manufacturers are not concerned about how their products affect children. All they care about is making money.

DISGUSTED IN BRIDGEPORT

DEAR ABBY: You deserve 10 lashes with a wet diaper for condoning the "Mamma doll" who actually gives birth to a "baby doll." Good grief, is nothing sacred?

DISAPPOINTED IN S. C.

DEAR ABBY: Until now I have agreed with you 100 per cent, but your answer to HORRIFIED who wrote about the Mamma doll who actually gives birth, left me horrified. You gave the impression that this kind of doll was all right because it was "educational." Well, how about making a Mamma doll and a Papa doll who can "mate"—that would be "educational," too. And why not go the whole route and have a Mamma doll who could have "contractions" and deliver? (They might even throw in a breech birth for one out of every 10 dolls.)

Also, they could have an "unwed" Mamma doll so she could have an abortion. Why not tell it like it is?

FULLERTON MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: I have seven children who have watched our cat deliver kittens, but to give them a doll who can have a baby! Never! The reader who wrote to say that she was horrified was absolutely correct. It's sick. And you were wrong! SIGN ME "DOUBLE HORRIFIED"

Wandering Sailors

For a country which does not have much of a naval tradition, the Soviet Union has been unusually active in recent years in moving its fleet through the oceans and waterways of the world. Whatever side effects the Soviets may hope to gain from their naval deployment, the obvious prime objective is to make their presence known.

The Mediterranean has been a popular haunt for several years, and was the spot chosen to unveil a new helicopter carrier less than two years ago. Last July, a small Soviet fleet made something of a show by crossing the Atlantic and visiting Cuba. In March, a group of cruisers and submarines sailed into the North Sea.

Last month it was a simultaneous deployment of ships into two oceans and nine seas. Now, some submarines and a tender have appeared in the Caribbean off Puerto Rico.

The Soviets obviously are increasing the tempo of their naval wanderings. Perhaps this is nothing more than experiencing for the first time in history the ability to move their ships to almost any scene. If that is all it is, the novelty will wear thin as the costs of deployment escalate.

Credit Abuse

Credit bureaus, for reasons which are at least partly understandable, are coming under increasing concern in Congress. Basically, the concern zeroes in on the credit information accumulated on individuals — the accuracy of it, and the use made of it.

Extension of credit obviously has made an important contribution to retail sales. No less important to the credit system itself is the method of regulation, and that is where the credit bureaus and similar organizations play an important role.

It is inevitable that problems involving carelessness, obsolete data and incorrect information will arise. But some of the remedies which have been suggested in Congress would go far toward destroying the system itself.

A House bill would permit an individual to go through his credit file, in which all sources of information would have to be revealed. If anything found in the file was considered to be libelous, the individual would be free to sue the credit bureau. Credit files, under those conditions, would be little more than targets for harassment, and the prime casualty would be the credit system.

Removing The Fun

Cheating is not a new phenomenon among students taking exams, nor is it limited to any nationality. But students in India have carried the practice to its ultimate plateau by insisting they have a right to cheat.

Not to be denied their thing, the Indians have carried their point to the extreme of murdering a proctor who dared complain about the cheaters. As any self-respecting cheater knows, this is not the way to handle the situation.

By its very nature cheating demands a test of skill between the cheater and the authority which prohibits it. To make it a legal right, as the Indians seem to want to do, would take the fun out of the whole exercise.

Gone would be the need for dreaming up all those ingenious cribs, in which American students in particular take such great pride. To make all those intricate preparations unnecessary and permit an open discussion on exam day would make cheating part of the established system.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Advertising executives appear unperturbed over the prospect of losing millions of dollars in billings because of a new law banning cigarette commercials.

"It's not the black cloud it would appear to be," said one agency executive of the ban on cigarette advertising on television which takes effect Jan. 2.

Tobacco companies in 1969 spent some $270 million advertising cigarettes in television, radio, magazines and newspapers. Of that sum, $214 million, or 79 per cent, went for television and radio.

Fulbright Wants U.S. Withdrawal

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Wednesday the United States should get out of Indochina because the war in Vietnam and the military engagement in Cambodia is "creating a terrible disaster here at home."

"We should remove ourselves just as the French did," said Fulbright who was interviewed in Washington on the NBC-TV "Today" show. "The French left because they made a rational decision . . . We should liquidate our engagement there and stop the war."

"People are wondering and apprehensive" about the war, Fulbright said, "the young, the businessmen, the investors . . . the country is coming apart at the seams."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

RETURNED from a day's outing at the beach, a restaurant owner asked his oldest waiter, a race track habitue, "Did Gina Lollobrigida come in today?" "I don't know," confessed the waiter. "I had to leave after the sixth race."

Before Oscar Levant hit the jackpot, and wasn't at the Gershwin's, he frequently could be located at the home of playwright George Kaufman and wife Beatrice. He paid off in laughs. After one stay of over a month, Mrs. K. told him, "I thought the servants were beginning to eye you menacingly, and I know you're flat broke, so I gave them each five dollars and said it was from you." "Five dollars," snarled Levant. "You should have given them ten. Now they'll say I'm stingy."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Can you explain what is meant by a Bundle Branch Block? My husband has been told that he has it and our poor dear doctor has told us so often, but we forget. We don't want to keep burdening him again. Do you mind?

Mrs. P.B., Tennessee
Dear Mrs. B.: You are most kind to spare your doctor another explanation of a rather complicated heart problem. I don't mind at all and perhaps by re-reading this column it will reinforce that which your own doctor undoubtedly knows more about than I do.

Electrical impulses pass through the heart and are responsible for the rate and the rhythm with which the heart beats. These electrical impulses are the ones that are recorded on the electrocardiogram which is taken for the diagnosis of many heart conditions. Sometimes the spread of these electrical impulses is blocked by some defect and shows up in an abnormal pattern of the ECG.

There are a number of different types of Bundle Branch Blocks, the causes of which vary in importance and in severity. Occasionally there is no evidence of heart disease in patients who have this unusual condition. Drugs sometimes are responsible for a temporary Branch Block. Special types of heart drugs can sometimes control the condition if the underlying cause is found.

The progress in the knowledge of heart conditions has been vast and Bundle Branch Block does not have the gravity in all cases that it once had.

My sister died last year of what the doctor called neglected diabetes. She never wanted to care for herself and waited until she was taken to the hospital in a coma. I am terrified that I, too, have this condition and will suffer the same fate as my sister.

Mrs. B.C., Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. C.: Let me immediately set your mind at rest and tell you that there is no such condition as neglected diabetes. There is only a disorder known as diabetes which can be neglected by immature people who fail to face the reality that a problem exists.

It is pathetic that your sister should have died of a condition which when recognized early and treated regularly hardly interferes with normal longevity.

Your terror is entirely unnecessary. If you were to be completely examined by your doctor, you would know immediately if you are a diabetic or not. There are some people with a family history of diabetes who are sometimes considered prediabetics and who should be especially watched with regular examinations. Only then can the condition be diagnosed early, treated and controlled.

If you do not have the condition and the likelihood is great that you do not, then there is no reason why you should spend the rest of your life in unnecessary fear about a condition you may never acquire.

Children can be trained to take medicines without a great deal of fuss. It spares everyone, including them.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, May 23, the 148th day of 1970. There are 217 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1940, in World War II, British and French troops began evacuation of Dunkerque, France.

On this date: In 1864, Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian of Austria-Hungary landed in Vera Cruz, Mexico, to become emperor.

In 1905, Russia's fleet suffered a disastrous defeat in the Russo-Japanese War.

In 1934 Mrs. Olivia Dionne gave birth to quintuplets in a farmhouse near Callender, Ontario.

In 1937, British Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin resigned and was succeeded by Neville Chamberlain.

In 1959, two monkeys named Able and Baker survived a 300-mile trip into space after being launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., in the nose of a rocket.

In 1962, the New York stock market took its biggest loss since October 1929.

Ten years: An estimated 200 persons were killed in a tropical storm which hit Luzon Island in the Philippines.

Five years ago: Britain's Queen Elizabeth II sailed for home on the royal yacht Britannia after a 10-day visit to West Germany.

One year ago: The government of Argentina imposed a limited state of siege amid student unrest and the prospect of a general strike.

Economy Really Wild

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The stock market falls, yet our industrialists go on borrowing money to build new capital plant. This makes no logical sense, for if there is to be a market for U. S. goods in the future, as our industrialists obviously believe, people ought to be buying stocks in the industrialists' companies.

If the men making the decisions to expand their operations are likely to have second thoughts, it is not apparent from recent surveys. The latest roundup, by Pierre Rinfret of the Rinfret-Boston Associates, shows that "American industry is planning a dramatic increase in long-term external financing during 1970." Says Dr. Rinfret, "This means long-term interest rates ain't coming down and may go higher."

It's really wild. President Nixon's advisers keep hoping the economy will cool, and they have had some small effect in reducing overtime work and even in reducing employment. However, prices don't respond. Nor will they respond if capital investment persists in being a prime expansionary force in the economy. Money spent on capital plant becomes consumer purchasing power when the machine tool workers, the construction workers, the teamsters, the miners, and all the other people engaged in the processes that result in putting up new buildings and installing new equipment, take their earnings to the grocery store. The Marxists and the classical economists have always agreed on the "double-action" results of capital investment. When you have it, you can't dodge prosperity. Or high prices.

Rinfret's survey results show that "the utility and communications sector, which provided the most complete figures, reported the largest planned increase." Expenditures by these industries, so Rinfret says, "are programmed to rise by 18 per cent and long-term external financing by an extraordinary 79 per cent. The manufacturing and other industries collectively plan an increase in capital spending of 8 per cent and a rise in long-term external financing of 42 per cent."

How are the boys going to get the money to build and expand? The bond market, as Dr. Rinfret says, is already "overloaded and demoralized." Stocks aren't selling well. There must be some mystical faith involved in the industrialists' intentions to spend eight billion more dollars this year on investment than they did in 1969. But somehow they always manage to get the money.

Further, there must be something contagious about the optimism engendered by the act of construction. The capitalists engaged in expansion are betting on the future of the country. So are the construction workers, who turned out a demonstration force of 150,000 in New York City the other day to affirm their faith in Nixon's Cambodian policy.

Mr. Nixon can't hope for very much by way of deflation if the capitalists keep insisting on flushing the economy by their construction outlays. But the patriotic gestures of the construction workers should enable the President to swallow his disappointment on the economic front. In the long run the only real hope for a balanced budget — and falling prices — resides in a decrease of military expenditures. Nixon is pushing his activities up in Southeast Asia in order to bring our participation in the war to an earlier close. The construction workers have given him some reassurance that the college generation, which is not old enough to have experienced the satisfaction of building anything, does not speak for the country. Eventually we'll manage to conclude our front line participation in the Vietnamese War with honor. Then, with the new capital plant turning out a plethora of goods, we'll be in a position to solve those problems of inflation that now seem so intractable.

It's now claimed that Marco Polo, whose account of his visit to the Far East—China, India, etc. — set medieval Europe agog, was a real swinger. Maybe so — but we do know the old boy certainly got around!

Marco spent approximately 20 years in China which, all things considered, must have added up to a lot of tea parties!

A 100-year-old Wisconsin woman claims she's never taken an aspirin or a shot of booze. She's got to be the marvel of the century.

Britain's Westminster Bank paid a million pounds for Heythrop College which it will turn into a training school for its staff. This certainly is a new note in the investment business.

A gunman robbed a San Francisco police station of $10,000 in bail money. Case of good money going after bad?

There were more than 1,200 different American Indian languages — Factographs. No wonder they had to depend on smoke signals!

The Indonesia State Railway says it loses $2.65 million a year because many passengers don't pay fares. That R. R. must have gotten off on the wrong track somewhere.

By HAL BOYLE

According to Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Heard any good new double talk lately?

Double talk, you remember, is saying one thing while thinking another. It is a device for saving your public face while remaining privately honest with yourself.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, here are some typical examples of modern day double talk:

"Frankly, I like the dress, but somehow it doesn't bring out the real me." — I said the price tag.

"I really enjoy living alone, Melvin, but now and then I get swept by a feeling of unutterable loneliness. Don't you sometimes feel that way, too?" — What did I do wrong as a little girl so that now, at 28, I have to try to get a jerk like Melvin to propose to me?

"Naturally, every man has a right to express his own opinion." — So why don't you write yours on a piece of paper, put it in a bottle, and float it out to sea?

"The reason I asked you to baby sit for us, Melinda, is that everyone in the neighborhood brags about what a trustworthy and responsible girl you are for your age." — Please don't teach our child to smoke pot while we're gone — she's only 3.

"Well, I guess I will have just one more if you promise to make it a real teeny-weeny one." — But you don't have to pour it from an eyedropper, like you did the other two.

"I can't wait for the beach season to start, Gloria, so I can see how you'll look in that new bikini." — But maybe we could tie it on a broomstick right now and get a good idea.

"Yeah, since I started taking exercises regularly, I can now touch my toes 50 times without —" Without getting out of bed.

"Now, Jim, why did you have to go and do that? You know I insisted we were going to go Dutch!" — Boy, that was close. The big bum almost let me pay for my own meal.

"I'm happy to tell you, Mr. Brownbaum, that your first series of X-rays were completely negative." — My technician goofed. Now we'll take some more and find out what's actually wrong with you.

"Normally, of course, I wouldn't be caught dead going to a dirty movie, but according to the critics this one has some redeeming features." — It's real dirty.

"That sounds like pure malicious gossip about Sylvia. How can you believe a word of it?" — I always knew she was a tramp. Tell me more.

"Your word alone is always good enough for me, Frank." — But let's put it in writing and have it notarized, shall we, old pal?

House Approves SST Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting charges the supersonic transport will be a jet set luxury so noisy it won't be allowed at U.S. airports, the House has approved SST development money by the narrowest margin yet.

An effort to force a roll call vote on cutting all $290 million SST money out of a $7 billion Department of Transportation money bill was defeated Wednesday 176 to 163.

An earlier nonrecord vote to kill the money was defeated 102 to 86 but critics tried to force the roll call in hopes the House would cut the money if members had to be recorded on the issue by name.

After the roll call move failed the $7 billion bill was passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate where Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has already launched a drive to try to cut the SST money.

Backers of the 1700 mile-an-hour airliner said the noise problem is being solved and cancellation of the program would cripple America's aviation prestige as well as its aerospace industry and jobs.

"The fact is we are going to control the noise on the ground," said Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., chairman of the House transportation appropriations subcommittee.

The SST's noise on takeoff—which has been described as equaling the roar of 50 jetfighters lifting off simultaneously—can be solved, Boland said, as future airports are located further from cities.

He said the SST's noise 3 1/2 miles after takeoff is expected to be less than that of airliners already flying.

But Rep. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., called the SST a "$300 million boondoggle for the jet set" and Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., who proposed cutting the funds, called the plane a "colossal waste of money."

"Even if it flies successfully—and there is still serious question that it will," Yates said, "it will not be allowed to fly into or out of any airport in the United States because of the infernal racket it makes."

His argument was that anticipated SST ground noise far exceeds present federal limits for subsonic planes and those limits should not be changed for the new plane.

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., said the government SST money spurs the aerospace industry and maintains 150,000 jobs—and he rejected the argument that only the jet set will be able to afford to fly it.

"Businessmen will use this plane," he said, "and businessmen will buy speed."

The $290 million for fiscal 1971, starting next July, would bring federal spending for SST development to $998 million.

The government's total share is now estimated at $1.34 billion. The major builders, the Boeing and General Electric companies, are to put up $228 million and the airlines 59 million.

Aside from the slim 176-163 procedural vote Wednesday, the 102-86 rejection of the effort to cut SST's money was far narrower than the 126-64 House vote against cutting $96 million last year.

The Senate voted 58 to 22 last year against Proxmire's amendment to cut the money.

The Garden Corner

Be on the watch for bagworms as they usually appear in May, arsenate of lead is their death warrant. For aphids and red spider, use Malathion and Aramite, Kelthane or Tedion.

Stir the soil now and plant portulaca seeds in sunny places where other flowers will not thrive. It makes a lovely ground cover.

Plant flower pots and tubs for use on terraces, walls, pool, etc.

Start dividing daffodils if you can get them back in the ground immediately. Do not cut off foliage.

Watch for hardy begonias emerging. Then transplant where needed and thin. They like partial shade, but not deep shade. If plants are to be sturdy they must be thinned several times.

During the bad weather of May remember that when it rains and rains the weeds grow and grow and the lawn gets ahead of you — remember it's the showers that bring the flowers.

By MICHELE HULSE
Herald Staff Writer

Seventy years ago, Miss Vinnie Clark created a poem along the pattern of "Hiawatha" to present to her classmates and guests at their commencement ceremonies on May 24, 1900.

Monday, Miss Clark, now Mrs. Milton Kellstadt, and two other members of that same graduation class, Miss Gertrude Pontius and Mrs. Elmer Wolf, met for a dinner and ceremony, including the reading of that same poem. It was a pleasant event for the ladies, who spent the afternoon reminiscing about old friends and school days, and smiling about their own mischievous pranks years ago.

In her youth a lively and talented writer, Mrs. Kellstadt was named to be prophet for her graduation class. She chose to design a narrative poem including each of her 27 classmates, predicting what paths they would have chosen as they reassembled for their reunion in 1920.

Although most of her prophecies were far from correct, Mrs. Kellstadt did manage to arrive at a few close predictions. One concerned Maud Nooks, who became a famous radio singer, broadcasting from four New York studios her well-known "Sally Sunshine Songs."

MISS Mary Wilder, long time librarian of the Circleville Public Library, was pointed out as a rival artist to Lutz May, when she "drew a likeness of a teacher ... right upon the board ... so true to life the professor recognized it." The trio enjoyed the recap of the event in which the teacher drew his version of Miss Wilder's likeness — a donkey.

She erred in her prediction that Frank Hamilton would become a stout and famed lawyer, for he always argued so well with his instructors. Hamilton came to be a popular member of the Hamilton and Ryan drug firm before his death in 1933.

Miss Pontius was portrayed in the poem slow in rising to read a letter from Mrs. Wolf (the former Myrtle Cristy) who was to remain a spinster missionary, "saving her money to buy spring hats for the heathen." The women noted that Miss Pontius was rather reluctant in rising to recite in school, explaining the lines about her.

Miss Pontius went on to business school after graduation and was employed by the Crites and Milton Milling firm for many years. Mrs. Wolf taught school in the High St. and Everts school before retiring.

Mrs. Kellstadt also taught school and in her spare time, wrote serials and short books for children's magazines.

Their graduation ceremonies were held in three parts: A Baccalaureate sermon on the Sunday before Commencement and a special Class Day just prior to the awarding of diplomas.

Class Day was a program in which the seniors would perform, reciting essays of their own composing or singing. All the work presented at this time was memorized — not one bit could be read. To illustrate the enormity of the project, Mrs. Kellstadt had 11 beautifully written pages of the poem to recall for her performance.

STUDENTS spoke on such topics as: "Always Tie a Knot in the End of Your Thread"; "A Week in Venice," an imaginary tour of one girl's dream city; some class and county history; "The Duty of An American Scholar" and "The History of the American Negro."

Commencement was held in the old Grand Opera House, where the Savings Drive-In Bank now stands. The students held one practice way up in the belfry of the old Everts building at the center of the building above the main entrance, climbing a narrow, musty staircase to the tower.

Mrs. Wolf, Mrs. Kellstadt and Miss Pontius also recalled little activities common to young girls of their era. Besides always being addressed as Miss Myrtle, Miss Vinnie and Miss Gertrude by their teachers, the women wrote on slates and every so often their chalk "got out of hand" resulting in amusing little remarks penciled on the floor.

A hoodoo string was popular among the young ladies. This was simply a string stretched around the girl's bedroom on which she hung momentos of her activities in high school years. As proof that they were all high-spirited youngsters,

KSU Board Of Trustees To Decide On Graduation

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University's Board of Trustees meets today to decide whether to hold the June 13 commencement on the campus after Portage County Common Pleas Judge Albert L. Caris made it legally possible Wednesday.

Caris modified a court order, which closed the campus May 4 after four students were killed and nine wounded in a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen, to allow the commencement.

He also relaxed the order to permit graduating students who had permission from their department chairmen to return to campus and work on special academic projects needed for graduation.

The modification also allows persons with permission to remain on campus until 8 p.m. each day, instead of 5 a.m., beginning Monday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which has been probing the four days of campus unrest which led to the May 4 shootings, said Wednesday its search of a Kent student's apartment failed to uncover any explosive materials.

their class was known as the "Naughty Naughts," indicating perhaps more than they told at their reunion Monday.

Hostess for the event was Marie Kellstadt, daughter of the class prophetess, at their home on North Court St. Included as guests were Twila Lorentz, who also assisted at the reunion and Miss Minnie Heise and Superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

Other members of the 1900 graduating class were: Earl Warner, Cora Rader, Pearl James, Frank Hamilton, Marguerite Clark, Bernice Collier, Emma Driesbach, Samuel F. Denman, Mary Elizabeth Hammel, Florence Hoffman, Pearl James, Pearl Judy, Ollie Lucas, Mayme McMahon, Lou Nickerson, Ann Nichols, Mary Renick Rindsfoos, Fayne Row, Helen Sapp, Ella Seall, Mabel Secrest, Mina Stewart, Mary Wasserstrom, and Milton Warner.

In an affidavit filed with U.S. Commissioner Clifford Bruce in Cleveland, the FBI said it had searched the apartment of a Parma, Ohio, youth in connection with the May 2 burning of the university's ROTC building.

The FBI reportedly had been asking students if their professors were teaching radical ideas. This brought objections from the Portage County American Civil Liberties Union and resulted in university vice president Louis K. Harris ruling that class lists would be considered privileged information in the future and not issued without a court order.

"We provided some class lists to the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the basis that enrollment and job assignments have always been considered public," Donald E. Halter said.

The ACLU had sent a telegram Friday to U.S. Sens. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, and to U.S. Rep. William Stanton, R-Ohio, protesting the FBI inquiry.

Rhodes Says He Supports Students Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said Wednesday he wants students and faculty members represented on the boards of trustees at all state-supported universities and the Ohio Board of Regents.

He told a group of student leaders he will recommend such action to the General Assembly. Rhodes met with 60 college students in what he called a "heretofore nonexistent dialogue between students and government."

And the governor, who conferred earlier with the presidents and other officials of the 12 state universities, planned to meet with professors today and said he will caucus next week with trustees of the universities and regents.

Many subjects were discussed in his meeting with the student leaders, Rhodes said, adding, "I have asked the students to submit their thoughts as expressed here in writing."

He said the students stressed a need for a restructuring of higher educational opportunities.

Other subjects included financing of state universities, campus security, legislation affecting campus operations, black studies, the growth and development of branch campuses, vocational and technical education and the need for students to work within the system to bring about change.

Cincinnati Council Fights Junk Problem

CINCINNATI (AP) — Abandoning old cars in Cincinnati will be a considerable risk under an ordinance passed by City Council Wednesday.

The ordinance carries a maximum penalty of a $300 fine and three days in jail. A "junkie" left on the street or other public property for 48 hours or on private property for 72 hours will be regarded as abandoned.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hastings and family, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Forrest and son, and Mrs. Elizabeth Forrest of Mt. Sterling, drove to

Battle Against Environment Shows Wins And Losses

The Circleville Herald, Thur. May 28, 1970 9
Circleville, Ohio

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

In Yakima, Wash., a U.S. Army officer has come up with an answer to the problem of automobiles abandoned on Yakima streets: blow them up.

Lt. Col. James P. Johnson, deputy post commander at the Yakima Firing Range told a community cleanup campaign that the Army would remove auto bodies and haul them to the firing range for target practice by Army tanks.

So goes one more small step in the fight to save the environment, a struggle marked by advances and retreats, but a continuing fight that shows no evidence of having spent itself in Earth Day last April 22.

In early May, for example, the Louis Harris polling organization found that in the relatively unspoiled state of Washington the environment had become one of the primary concerns of the residents.

And a few days after Earth Day, the Ecological Society of America released a professional study urging establishment of a National Institute of Ecology.

The report, supported by the National Science Foundation, said such an institute could be the focus of international ecological activity.

"It would provide scientific data to guide the formulation of national and global strategies for effective environmental management and control."

As interest appeared to be gathering in the environmental movement, ecologists counted some of their gains and losses.

Environmental advocates won what they consider a victory with the announcement by the Federal Water Quality Administration of a thermal pollution policy that would forbid dumping virtually any heated water into Lake Michigan. The policy would affect seven planned power plants, industries and municipalities.

But President Nixon's assistant for consumer affairs, Mrs. Virginia Knauer, reported that a federal survey of public water supply samples showed that 30 per cent contained excessive amounts of germs and chemicals.

The average amount of DDT in fish caught in Connecticut rivers and lakes has decreased since airplane spraying was abandoned in 1965. But the Canadian government has banned the sale and export of perch and pickerel from Lake Erie because of possible mercury contamination.

The National Science Foundation announced an urgent project to investigate potential ecological effects of the proposed trans-Alaskan oil pipeline and of development of Alaska's North Slope because of its oil deposits. But the Sierra Club, a leading conservation group, lost its fight to get a seat on the board of directors of the Atlantic Richfield Co. in its efforts to stop construction of the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Looking ahead, the environmental activists have as their most immediate target the development of a civil supersonic transport aircraft. They strongly oppose continued SST development, arguing that it would benefit only a few privileged travelers while potentially harming countless persons by extreme noise at airports, sonic booms and pollution of the atmosphere.

The SST issue is coming up now in Congress and the House Appropriations Committee has approved an additional $290 million for continued development.

Looking ahead 30 years, an expert panel of the National Research Council-National Academy of Engineering warned that sulphur dioxide pollution of the atmosphere may more than triple in the next three decades unless government and industry take vigorous action.

Pollution from sulphur dioxide and other closely related compounds comes mainly from oil and coal-fired electricity generating plants. These are second only to the internal combustion engine as pollutants, the panel said.

Here are some of the other ups and downs in the environment:

—New York City's commissioner of water resources, Maurice M. Feldman said the majestic but badly polluted Hudson River should regain its ability to support fish life some time in the mid-1970s because of pollution control efforts. "Although people have prematurely announced the death of the Hudson River," Feldman said, "the Hudson is not dead."

—A New York Times survey found that public zeal against littering is on the upswing across the country, but not yet enough so to offset the cost of collecting it. In Lincoln, Neb., the annual cost of cleanup work is $1.30 a person; in New York City $1.12.

—Dr. Arie Jan Hagen-Smit, chairman of the President's Task Force on Air Pollution, reported that there are promising signs that the nation has risen to the challenge of combating pollution, but he lamented that all the American technology can never return the tons of topsoil lost from the American heartland to the Gulf of Mexico.

—In San Francisco, the Garden State Paper Co. announced it will conduct a market survey to study the economics involved in a newsprint recycling plant, in response to a question by the San Francisco Examiner that old newspapers be saved and turned into a recycling process as an individual contribution to ward preservation of the environment.

—On Spaceship Earth, the World Meteorological Organization is planning to set up air pollution monitoring stations in clean, isolated parts of the world to provide a standard for determining how bad the pollution is elsewhere. A spokesman said he did not know of any place in the United States that would qualify.

NATO Delegations Split On Soviet Security Plan

ROME (AP) — The smaller NATO members lined up Wednesday behind a British proposal for exploratory talks on the European security conference the Russians want. But the United States and West Germany were opposed.

Discussion of the British proposal was among the main items of business remaining as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's 15-member council of ministers began winding up its two-day spring meeting.

The Soviet Union has been pressing for months for a big European security conference between Western and Communist nations, and a considerable number of West Europeans favor the idea of talking with the Russians. But U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers and some other Western diplomats oppose such a conference, fearing the Soviets might use it to solidify their position in central Europe and that it would not bring real security any closer.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart proposed a compromise between a general conference and the kind of negotiations now going on between some Eastern and Western European nations. He said such discussions, which he called mutual exploratory talks, could be opened to neutral as well as Communist and Western nations and that one outcome might be a standing committee on East-West relations.

France, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Turkey, Denmark, Greece and Luxembourg showed signs of favoring Stewart's proposal. Italy and Iceland were reported on the fence. Canada and Portugal appeared to have joined the United States and Germany in opposing the idea.

West Germany feels multilateral talks might interfere with its current talks with East Germany. The United States supports Bonn's position.

Moscow has shown no sign of readiness to discuss one issue that might make a security conference interesting to Western governments: mutual, balanced reduction of Western and Communist armed forces in central Europe. Nevertheless, the NATO ministers were believed preparing a new proposal for talks on this issue.

Tuesday's opening session was highlighted by the reading of a letter from President Nixon defending U.S. military operations in Cambodia and expressing appreciation "for the understanding and support" which NATO countries have shown to ward them.

The foreign ministers listened in silence as Rogers read the letter, and some said privately they were mystified by Nixon's assertion that his NATO allies supported the Cambodian operation.

Legislation Ends Illness Requirement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House Wednesday passed 81-1 and sent to the governor a bill that eliminates a requirement for public employees to supply notarized affidavits for sick leave benefits.

The bill makes a written statement all that is needed for sick leave verification. The notarized statement provision was part of an employee pay raise bill passed last year.

Greeks Deny

Woman Passport

ATHENS (AP) — Mrs. Alexander Fleming, widow of the discoverer of penicillin, has been refused a passport to leave her native Greece.

The Ministry of Interior announcement Wednesday gave no reason. Mrs. Fleming testified for the defense last month at a court martial in which Greece's military-oriented regime accused two persons of belonging to an antigovernment group.

Mrs. Fleming renounced her Greek citizenship when she married Fleming in England, but returned to Greece in 1968 and had her citizenship reinstated.

19-Year-Old Gets Reformatory Term

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Clearview High School pupil convicted of setting fire to the school last May has been ordered to the Mansfield Reformatory to serve a one-to-10-year sentence.

The sentence for Raymond Wren was ordered following confirmation Wednesday of the conviction by the Ninth District Court of Appeals. Wren had been free on $15,000 bond.

The fire caused $213,000 damage and climaxed a day of racial trouble at the school. Wren's attorney said he would appeal the sentencing to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Pickaway Easter Seal Unit To Sponsor Camperships

The Pickaway County Easter Seal Society will again be sponsoring camperships for handicapped children and adults from Pickaway County who would like to spend a 2-week camping period at Camp Pittinger.

The camp is sponsored by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., and is located in a 30 acre setting of natural woods in the Sandusky River Valley. It is owned by the Tiffin YMCA-YWCA and leased to the Easter Seal Society. The camp is approved by the American Camping Association.

Summer Camp is a magical dream of the wonderful "World Of Outdoors." Handicapped children have visions of victory, but many of them dream only from their sheltered life at home, in school and familiar environs. The Ohio Society for Crippled Children and Adults (The Easter Seal Society) recognized this fact over a quarter of a century ago when it began the organized camping program for handicapped children and adults.

Children between the ages of seven and 20 with physical or neurological handicaps can have the opportunity to enjoy the outdoors. Programs at the river campsite are adapted for disabled children with cerebral palsy, polio, birth defects, muscular dystrophy, arthritis, bone malformations, epilepsy, hearing, sight and heart disorders, burns and accidents.

The first camping period of two weeks opens July 26 and is traditionally reserved for younger campers — those between the ages of seven and 11 years old. Special programs are geared to these youngsters and their interest, abilities and educational background.

The second session will be Aug. 9 - 21 for campers 12 through 20, with special programming formulated to stimulate their special interests.

Many adults with orthopedic or neurological handicaps will be able to enjoy a week of outdoor living at Camp Pittinger beginning Aug. 22-29. Persons 21 years of age or older — physically, but not mentally handicapped, can enjoy a vacation long to be remembered. At last year's session more than half of the campers came in wheel chairs.

Camp director this year will be Linda Miklas who many previous campers will remember for her bubbling good humor and leadership. She was assistant director during the 1969 camping season and prior to that was a counselor. A recent graduate from Youngstown University in Physical Education, she is well suited by both interest and training to give skilled leadership. A staff of nearly 50 young men and women employed either for the full summer by the YMCA or specially employed by the Ohio Society will make camping easy and meaningful. A full time registered nurse is on duty at camp, and nearby physicians are on call.

A well organized program of activities is planned for each day. Campers are not required to join in, but companionship and lasting friendships are the benefits of participation. Special activities include shuffleboard, river trips, swimming (the pool is heated), cookouts, overnight camping, parties, stunts, arts and crafts, checkers and other games.

State Cuts Pension Fund Payments

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Police and Firemen's Disability and Pension Board Wednesday approved a cut in pension contributions that will save Ohio cities and villages an estimated $7 million next year.

The reduction was possible because of higher interest rates being paid on pension fund investments, according to Franklin A. Kropp, executive secretary of the fund.

Cities and villages paid 15.52 per cent of their police and fire payrolls to the fund this year. Increased pension benefits would have forced this figure up to 16.5 per cent if it had not been for the rise in investment earnings, Kropp said.

Instead, cities and villages will pay 12.81 per cent on their police payroll and 12.96 per cent on their firemen's payroll. Ohio municipalities already face an increase in the amount they must pay next year on back debt owed the state pension fund.

This year they had to pay two per cent of the total owed. Next year they will pay three per cent.

The cut in 1971 pension payments should more than offset additional back pension payments of most cities and villages, Kropp said.

Four North Vietnamese ground attacks were reported in South Vietnam's northern provinces, with five Americans and three South Vietnamese killed and 14 Americans and 14 South Vietnamese wounded.

During the night, rockets and mortars hit the U.S. Marine Force Logistics Command's base just outside Da Nang, troops of the U.S. 11th Brigade 45 miles southeast of Da Nang and soldiers of the 196th Brigade 34 miles southwest of Da Nang. U.S. headquarters said several Americans were wounded, but none was killed.

In Cambodia, North Vietnamese troops ambushed an American artillery convoy. But otherwise only scattered light action was reported for the 40,000 South Vietnamese and 13,000 American troops searching out North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base camps.

Two Americans were killed and four wounded in the convoy Wednesday night when the enemy soldiers opened fire with rifles, machine guns and claymore mines seven miles north-east of Mimot. The U.S. Command said the convoy suffered light damage, and enemy losses were not known.

Four South Vietnamese paratroopers were killed east of Mimot and nine wounded in "light sporadic contacts," government military spokesmen said. The paratroopers killed one of the enemy and captured 48 tons of rice, they added.

A four-man Belgian television crew captured by the Pathet Lao in northwest Laos March 24 arrived in Vientiane, the Laotian capital. They said the Pathet Lao had treated them well, and they showed no ill effects.

Addonizio Asks Delay In Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio of Newark, N.J., has asked the Supreme Court to delay his trial on extortion and income tax charges until after the June 16 election in which he seeks another term of office.

The trial is scheduled to begin next Tuesday. Addonizio claimed holding it at that time would unfairly prejudice his campaign.

Addonizio's election opponent is Kenneth Gibson, a Negro engineer.

Ohio House OKs Liberalized Law Governing Garnishment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House narrowly passed Wednesday a liberal garnishment law, one of the six major pieces of legislation that has faced the 108th General Assembly since the beginning of its extended session.

The vote was 51-38, with fifty needed for passage. The measure limits to 17.5 per cent the amount of an Ohioan's disposable monthly income that is subject to garnishment for debts. Federal statutes currently allow 25 per cent.

In addition, garnishments are limited to one per month, three fewer than under federal law. The bill returns to the Senate for approval of minor amendments before heading for the governor's desk.

Still pending are major measures dealing with campus disorders, state investment practices, school subsidies, drugs and obscenity. According to legislators, these and several other matters will be taken up following a three-day Memorial Day weekend recess beginning late Thursday.

The General Assembly session, scheduled to end Friday, was extended when it became clear important matters could not be dealt with without more time, members said.

Monday and Tuesday of next week have been set aside for final legislative action, with adjournment sine die slated for Tuesday.

The Senate, on another important issue approved 31-0 a bill establishing a Rehabilitation Services Commission.

The commission would bring under its control all vocational and rehabilitative programs and direct expanded services for the handicapped. This measure reverts to the lower chamber for agreement on clerical amendments.

The Senate also passed bills that would:

— Allow Ohio National Guardsmen on active duty during election periods to vote absentee ballots.

— Enlarge cash reserves of local banks to permit more active money lending.

The House added to an already productive week with the passage of a number of other bills including those that would:

— Repeal a law requiring public employees to submit notarized affidavits before collecting sick leave benefits.

— Make statutory 15 days of sick leave each year for teachers.

— Extend the thoroughbred racing season.

And, the daily flow of campus riot legislation continued uninterrupted Wednesday.

Summer Activities Planned By FFA

New officers were chosen for the 1970-71 year. Those elected were: Mary Ann Hymc, president; Mary Morehead, vice president; Karen Miller, secretary; Rosie Morehead, treasurer; Ruth Porter, parliamentarian; Linda Walters, historian; Carol Minor, news reporter and Patty Bussert, song leader.

Reichelderfer Sent To Lima

A Groveport man, being held for the grand jury on a bad check charge, was sent to Lima Hospital Wednesday upon the order of Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Tom Reichelderfer was bound over to the grand jury Wednesday morning for issuing a check for $1,250 to Defenbaugh Funeral Home on a closed account. He was picked up under a warrant issued for his arrest the day before to the Pickaway County Sheriff's department.

Reichelderfer's attorney, Roger Bennington, appeared in Municipal Court earlier and requested his client be held to the grand jury without a preliminary hearing. Bond was set at $2,000. He was immediately ordered to Lima for a 30-day observation period by Judge Ammer.

What a perfect occasion to say "Good for You", and "hope you'll be happy whatever you do".

PETTIT'S

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Shining Mountains" Wednesday evening was one of NBC's excellent but too infrequent "Project 20" documentary programs.

This one combined in one short hour a quick history of the get-rich-quick mining days in the Rocky Mountains with a photographic paean celebrating their natural beauty and grandeur.

The Rockies, explained narrator Milburn Stone, are 80 million years old, extend from Alaska to Mexico, and are really 35 different ranges side by side. That is a lot of territory, and the producer handled it by concentrating on those days in the late 19th century when men swarmed into the mountains, first in 1859 for gold and later for silver and then other metals.

This portion was the usual stuff of TV documentaries—film showing the ghost towns and ghost mines as they are today and then the old photographs and posters made during the boom times.

As usual with "Project 20" programs, the research showed. The narrator explained that in the early days gold dust was the currency of each community and was valued at 25 cents a pinch—with the seller doing the pinching. Some greedy ones let their fingernails grow long and pressed a dried pea into the end of a finger to make a dent—a for a bigger pinch.

The gold fever subsided to be replaced in 1878 with a silver rush and sections of the shining mountains—the Rockies' Indian name—went through the same boom town-to-ghost-town cycle again.

The big picture was replaced occasionally by the small one when it involved an interesting story. The program told of Henry Taber, who took $10 million out of one mine and sported a platinum toothpick and two watches in his vest pockets. He lavished everything on his wife, Baby Doe, but died penniless. Baby Doe lived out her widowhood in a shack near one of his flooded mines and ultimately froze to death.

The great mountains are now being invaded again, this time by a rush of winter sports enthusiasts. But they make only trails on snow for their skis and snowmobiles without destroying the beauty or gouging out the substance.

Films of the mountains in winter were highlights of the hour. Slow motion film of skiers on the trails and slopes were like a ballet. There was one awesome but beautiful sequence showing an avalanche.

It was an educational hour which would have been interesting to younger viewers if it had been broadcast at an earlier hour.

Thunderstorms And Twisters Pound Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms hammered wide areas of the Great Plains today after churning out tornadoes and funnel clouds over Texas and Iowa.

No injuries or damage were reported from the several twisters sighted during the night and early morning hours.

Winds up to 55 miles an hour lashed Hobart, Okla. Large hail pounded an area near Abilene, Tex., and parts of Billings, Mont.

Locally heavy rains pushed streams over their banks in northwestern Iowa, southern Minnesota, and in southeastern South Dakota.

Nearly 2 inches of rain soaked Childress, Tex., 1½ inches fell at Rochester, Minn., and an inch poured into the Dallas-Fort Worth area in little more than an hour.

Tornadoes were reported near Grafado, Tex., west of Fort Worth; east of Abilene, and near Brackettville, more than 100 miles west of San Antonio. Funnel clouds also were sighted southwest of Fort Worth, southeast of Dallas, southwest of Waco and near Paulina, Iowa.

A tornado watch was in effect during the predawn hours for a wide area of Texas as well as south-central sections of Oklahoma.

Clear and cool weather settled into the northeast and dropped temperatures to freezing over portions of the Great Lakes and the Appalachians.

Rogers Flies To Madrid To Discuss Base Accords

MADRID (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers was flying to Madrid today to discuss keeping U.S. bases in Spain open and to report on the NATO meeting that ended Wednesday in Rome.

Rogers was expected to help along the negotiations for a new bases agreement, but he was not expected to reach a formal understanding with Gen. Francisco Franco's government during his overnight stay.

The agreement under which the United States operates a naval base and three air bases in Spain expires Sept. 26, and talks on a new agreement have been going on for some time.

Informal sources said the United States and Spain are thinking in terms of a new five-year agreement under which Spain would receive military, educational and scientific assistance in return for allowing the bases to remain open.

Spain was said to be seeking tanks, F4 Phantom jets, and money for scientific projects and educational expansion. Informants declined to guess at the cost of the package, but unconfirmed estimates have ranged from $200 million to $300 million for the five years.

U.S. secretaries of state customarily visit Spain following each semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to brief Franco and his government on NATO developments.

Spain is not a member of NATO, and Spanish sources say the government has no interest in joining. But they say Spain would like some kind of mutual security agreement stronger than the one it now has with the United States.

Diplomatic sources in Madrid said the United States considered suggesting Spain for NATO membership during the Rome meeting, but there was such strong Scandinavian opposition it dropped the idea.

The NATO allies announced at the close of their two-day meeting that they may meet with nations of the Soviet bloc in the general conference on European security the Kremlin has proposed if exploratory talks are promising.

The 15 foreign ministers said in a communique that if there is sufficient progress in current preliminary negotiations, especially those going on now about Berlin and Germany, they will be ready to make multilateral contacts.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart pointed out that deputy foreign ministers of the seven Warsaw Pact nations are now in conference in Poland, and the NATO council indicated it would like its communique delivered to them before their meeting ends.

Italian Foreign Minister Aldo Moro was asked to relay the communique, along with an accompanying declaration calling for an East-West program of mutual, balanced reduction of forces in central Europe.

Hungarian hospital doctors are underpaid and take tips to boost their salaries, the Hungarian trade union paper, "Nepszava," disclosed.

Judge Eyes Hocking Suit

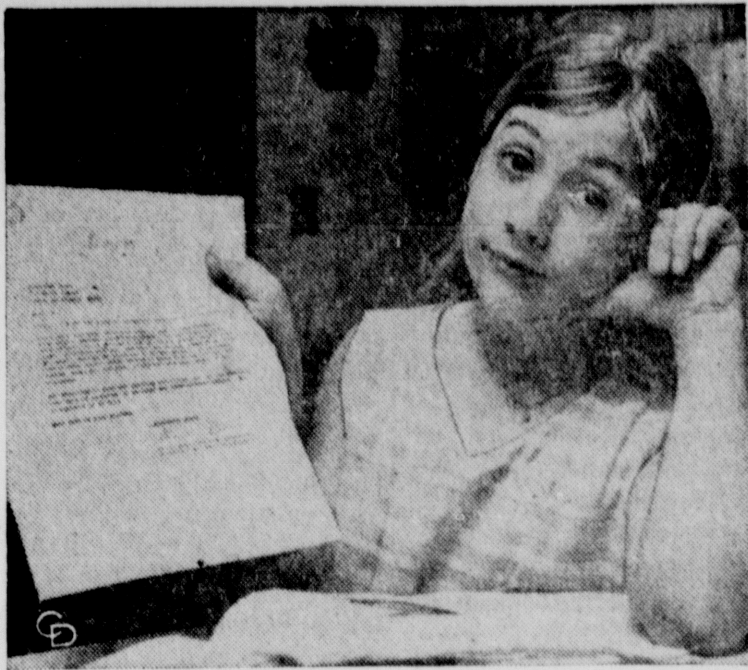

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Contempt charges against the Hocking Valley Community Hospital trustees have been withdrawn, but an injunction remains in effect against granting of surgical privileges to an osteopath.

Judge W. Denslow Sauer of the Washington County Common Pleas Court, assigned to the case here, said he will receive affidavits from both sides in the dispute over the trustees granting full surgical privileges to Dr. Charles Pritchard.

In a hearing last month Judge Sauer issued an injunction to stop the osteopath from doing unlimited surgery and the board from granting him the privilege. The judge ruled the board had not given the medical staff of the hospital the reasons for rejecting its recommendation for only limited surgical privileges.

Since then the board has given the medical staff its reasons and passed a resolution restoring Dr. Pritchard full rights to practice surgery at the hospital. This brought the contempt charges by the medical doctors on the hospital staff.

Judge Sauer said his previous injunction will remain in effect, but he will decide the entire suit without delay after he receives affidavits in behalf of both sides. The affidavits will be used to present testimony and avoid a public airing of the medical doctors' opinions of Dr. Pritchard's qualifications.

Schools Hit By Sanctions

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — The East Liverpool Teachers Association says it will begin immediately to urge present employees to seek jobs elsewhere and to ask new teachers "not to accept contracts with the East Liverpool Board of Education."

Keith Langdon, president of the ELTA, said Wednesday that the sanctions would be imposed against the school board because the board has refused to grant pay increases for the coming school year.

The school board said that unless voters approve a new tax levy, there will be no pay increase. Voters defeated an 8.9-mill operating levy May 5. The board said it would resubmit the levy in a special election before school opens in September.

A professional study day was called by the teachers after the levy failed. The board closed the schools a second day while obtaining a court injunction ordering the teachers back to work.

East Liverpool's starting pay for teachers with a bachelor's degree is $5,400, the lowest in Columbiana County.

Johnson, Phillies Blank Montreal Expos, 3-0

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The home run is the ultimate achievement for a hitter—something Deron Johnson knows all about. Johnson has hit 133 of them in his career. Homers are old stuff for him. Gil Garrido has hit one. For him, it was a wonderful new experience.

Johnson cracked his 10th homer of the season Wednesday night—a three-run shot in the ninth inning that gave Woody Fryman all the runs in Philadelphia's 3-0 victory over Montreal.

"I knew it was out of the park the moment it left my bat," said Johnson, who's learned to recognize the feeling of a homer.

Garrido connected along with Orlando Cepeda in a six-run second inning that moved Atlanta to an 8-1 victory over Houston. It was the very first in the majors for the 160-pound slugger.

Johnson's homer was the second time in as many nights that the Expos were cut down on a three-run shot in the ninth by a Phillie. On Tuesday, Tony Taylor hit one to win a game.

Garrido has been on a hot streak at the plate ever since grabbing one of pitcher Milt Pappas' bats. He went 4-for-4 with it in one game and has moved his average up from a dismal .096 to a respectable .270.

But if it's an average on the move you're looking for, try Rico Carty, who had three more hits against the Astros and increased his average from .424 to .432.

Cepeda had four RBIs for the Braves with a double and homer. Manager Gil Hodges moved slumping Cleo Jones into the leadoff spot and the move paid off when Jones delivered a bases-loaded, two-run single that helped the Mets to their victory over St. Louis.

Gary Gentry fired a three-hitter and struck out nine to earn his fifth victory.

"It was just like moving furniture," said Hodges of the Jones switch. "Cleo wasn't doing well batting third so I thought I'd try something different."

Juan Marichal turned in his best pitching job of the season, scattering eight hits as the Giants battered Los Angeles to get even a little for the 19-3 shelling the Dodgers handed them the night before.

Willie Mays walloped his 12th homer of the year—No. 612 of his career. That left him 102 away from Babe Ruth and 611 ahead of Gil Garrido. Reserves Bob Taylor and Frank Johnson also hammered homers in a 13 hit Giant attack.

Bob Moose spun a four-hitter and Pittsburgh shut out Chicago.

Roberto Clemente's two-run single in the fifth inning gave Moose some working room and the Pirate right-hander out-dueled Cubs ace Ferguson Jenkins. Moose is 4-4 while Jenkins lost his seventh game in 10 decisions.

Tony Perez took over the major league home run lead with his 17th of the season, snapping an eighth inning tie and giving Cincinnati its victory over San Diego.

The Reds collected 17 hits including a single, double and triple by Johnny Bench.

THE week end kicks off with a 3 hour practice session Saturday afternoon, followed by a merchandise race at 5:00 p.m.

Sunday, 3 heats for each class will be run, beginning at approximately 12:30 p.m. Concessions will be strategically located throughout the town with sandwiches, pop, and fried chicken dinners served on both days.

This is a real "round the houses" race similar to the Monaco Grand Prix, with most of the town streets utilized.

There will really be some exotic machinery on hand, with speeds approaching 100 MPH on the straights. Twin engine karts (up to 60 HP power to weight ratio of 1 HP per 5 pounds) will have no trouble negotiating the course at nearly 60 MPH.

Parking and admission is free, so for a wild and different kind of racing, and an exciting weekend, make plans to be there.

OSU Grid Ticket Sales Are Changed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There's good news, and then there's bad news today for Ohio State's football faithful who'll be scrounging around for tickets again this fall.

More fans will get to see the Buckeye Big-Ten co-champions play, but the ducks still will be tough to come by.

"I'm still sure the demand will exceed the supply," Ticket Director Robert C. Ries said Wednesday in announcing changes in procedure for securing tickets.

The big thing, Ries said, is that "we're spreading tickets around to more people this year."

Among the changes: Faculty and staff members without much tenure will be limited to two activity tickets and there will be a reduction in commercial and industrial block sales.

OSU benefactors, alumni, Varsity O and non-alumni continuous purchasers of season books will be limited to only one application.

"Previously, a person could qualify in all four categories and get four purchase orders," Ries noted.

Antiwar Movement Plans Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam announced Wednesday that a national conference will be held June 19-21 at Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland.

The committee also said Cleveland is among a dozen cities in which demonstrations will be held Saturday to enlist labor, blacks and others to oppose the war in Southeast Asia.

Social Security Benefits Available To Disabled

Young fathers who feel they have lots of responsibility and little financial security for their families if they die, or are disabled, may have more protection than they think, according to Harry Bieber, social security district manager in Chillicothe.

"Social security can help support not only the worker, but also his wife and children if he is disabled," Bieber said.

"And it can provide monthly checks for his family if he dies."

"Each month nearly 2 1/2 million disabled workers and their dependents, and over 3 million surviving children and widowed mothers get social security checks," he said.

Amounts of the checks depend on the worker's average earnings under social security. Disability benefits for a worker with a wife and one child range from $96.60 a month to a maximum of $434.40, with the average about $273.00. Most young men whose annual salaries are in the $7,500 range and above would be eligible for benefit payments close to the maximum amounts.

Survivors benefits for a widow with two children range from a minimum of $96.00 a month to about $434.40, with the average about $292.00.

A worker under 24 needs only 1 1/2 years of work under social security to have disability protection. Between 24 and 31, he needs to have worked only half the time between 21 and the time he is disabled to qualify for monthly checks for himself and his family.

Benefits in the case of a bread winner's death are based on even more liberal standards.

A man 25 or younger needs only 1 1/2 years of work for his family to qualify for survivors benefits.

Bieber suggested that young people interested in learning more about their social security protection should request the booklet Social Security for Young Families from any social security office.

The Chillicothe office is located at 606 Central Center — telephone 775-4950. The office hours are from 8:45 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday (holidays excepted).

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Books to cover your preschool child from top to toe are here presented.

For heads, "Theodore Turtle" by Ellen Mac Gregor. Is there a funnier tale than this one about slow-thinking, dim-witted Theodore? He forgot a rubber, (he needed four, of course), and his newspaper, and his alarm clock. It's lucky for him his head wasn't loose, or he'd have lost that, too.

For eyes, "What Whale, Where?" by the Hurds. It takes good eyes to be a good fisherman. George and his friend looked carefully and there was a whale.

For ears, "What is a Whispery Secret?" by Lois Hobart. "It's a very special secret that is told in a tiny little quiet little, soft little voice—" It's the grass, the leaves, a kitten. You'll have to open your ears wide, if you want to hear a whispery secret.

For noses, "The Three Gold Pieces" by Alike. In this old Greek folk tale, the peasant received a great deal of advice. But the best of all was about what he should do with his nose. He should keep it out of other people's business.

For mouths, "Bread and Jam for Frances" by the Hobans. Frances was rather finicky about eating. In fact, all she wanted was bread and jam. So that's what she got. Bread and jam for breakfast, bread and jam in her school lunch bucket and bread and jam at night. She began to sing a sad little song, "What I am is tired of jam!"

For arms, "Ask Mr. Bear" by Marjory Flack. All the barmy creatures had suggestions for Mother's birthday present, but Mr. Bear came up with the best idea of all — a bear hug!

For hands, "Pumpkinseeds" by Steven Yezback. What are hands for? Why, for giving, of course! David was a generous little boy, and he tried to share his pumpkinseeds with everyone he met. Unfortunately, city people are suspicious of gifts, and no one would accept what he offered so freely. At last he beat them into pieces for the birds. This is a poignant little book and it teaches a subtle lesson about the blessedness of receiving.

For hearts, "Thidwick, the Big Hearted Moose" by Dr. Suess. Thidwick was so hospitable, that he was soon overrun by ungrateful hangers-on. His motto: "A host, above all, must be kind to his guests."

For legs, "Follow Me, the Leader." In this one, a preschooler leads the birds, the kitten and Mother a merry chase.

For feet, "The Red Shoes" by Hans Christian Anderson.

Tradesmen Slate Vote On Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thousands of building tradesmen will vote on tentative contract proposals hammered out at a session between their representatives and Allied Construction Industries.

Howard Knauf, executive director of ACI, said Wednesday that a "majority" of several building trades unions had reached a settlement on the contracts for a total of about 12,500 workers which expire June 1 at midnight.

Negotiations were continuing with other unions.

Knauf said that reaching of the agreements does not necessarily mean that the unions will not strike this year.

Most of more than 20 of the unions staged walkouts in 1968. The longest strike lasted 86 days.

ACI and union representatives have been meeting for about 16 months on the new contracts and some craft unions such as Pipefitters Local 392 had previously approved new terms.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE

Scioto Valley Grange was program guest for the May 19 session of Salt Creek Valley Grange.

The master, Francis Fraunfelter, extended a welcome to all the guests. Mrs. John Dowler assisted Mrs. Ralph Fisher, lecturer, in conducting the program which reviewed "History - Sears Roebuck Catalogue 1908."

Supporting musical numbers were by the quartet - Ralph Fisher, Mrs. Norman Russell, Mrs. Thaddeus Cromley, Harold Fisher. They sang "Silver Threads Among The Gold" and "When You and I Were Young Maggie." The piano accompanist was Mrs. Herman Berger.

In "City Girl Visits The Country", Mrs. Harry Speakman gave a review of humor and reality in learning about the farm.

Guided by Catalog contents and writing of Edgar A. Guest, Mrs. Dowler conducted a shopping trip to markets 'round the world, giving special emphasis to comparison of the present to "The Good Old Days!"

After special mention of the catalogue pages of the many just 2, 4, and 6 cent items, John Dowler conducted a contest. All present were given opportunity to guess the 1908 Catalogue prices of 20 different items such as hatchet handle, cuspidor, calico goods, and churn. There were no perfect scores.

The lecturer, Paul Dunkle, expressed appreciation to the guests for the program. As deputy master, Mr. Dunkle reminded of the talent festival June 9. He mentioned the first trip of his travel scholarship representing National Grange Youth will be June 18 to Kansas.

Responsible committees made announcement of progress toward the 50th Anniversary open meeting June 10.

During the concluding social hour, refreshments were served by Salt Creek Valley Grange cooperative with members of the annual luncheon committee serving as hosts - Leora Sayre, Grace Anderson, Virgil Timmons, and Fred DeLong.

Lawns In City Discourage Pollution

City people can help discourage pollution by planting lawns and ornamentals. Here is why:

Carbon monoxide comes from incomplete burning of organic compounds, one source being automobile exhaust. Monoxide buildup is prevented through quick mixing into fresh, oxygenated air. Oxygen enrichment comes from green vegetation, which traps carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and releases oxygen in its place.

Botany Bay Airport Runway Extended

SYDNEY (AP) - Work has started on the further extension into Botany Bay of the main runway at Sydney Airport. The runway is to be lengthened from 9,000 ft. to 13,400 ft. to enable long-haul supersonic and jumbo jets to operate economically. About 9 million tons of sand are to be dredged from the bottom of the bay to complete the project.

NO, NO—One of a group of angry strikers trying to force their way to workers leaving the Pillington glass factory in St. Helens, Lancashire, England, is restrained.

Mom Says

Viet War

Necessary

DEARBORN HEIGHTS, Mich. (AP) — A Dearborn Heights housewife says she is convinced more than ever that the United States should be in South Vietnam, after touring a combat zone where a Communist sniper fired at her, her son or son and a friend.

"I guess I was just tired of hearing demonstrators and protesters tell me what the facts were," said Mrs. Raymond Brimmer.

"I had a son over there and I wanted to see for myself, said the trim, blonde housewife, who is in her 40s.

She said she went alone last week to Saigon to visit her son, Edward, 19, who is stationed at a naval base at Dong Tam. She said they met a 24-year-old lieutenant, who had served two tours in South Vietnam, and he agreed to take them on a jeep's tour of military installations in combat areas.

"Of course, we didn't ask anybody's permission about any of this and I certainly don't want to get that lieutenant in trouble," she said, about the trip. She declined to give his name.

She said they took a 3 1/2-day tour of American installations, including Dong Tam and Long Binh.

Mrs. Brimmer said she talked to about 20 servicemen about the war, adding: "I can tell you that they all know what they're there for. They know they have to stop communism or we'll have it here next."

Makeshift Mint

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (AP) — Police worked diligently for four months to put a gang of coin counterfeiters behind bars only to discover the culprits already were in the local jail. Prisoners had organized a makeshift mint with primitive equipment to make 50 cent (70 U.S. cents) coins.

Foreign Aid

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban says Israel plans to increase its extensive foreign aid program. The program provides training in Israel for about 1,300 foreigners a year. About 500 Israeli experts are sent abroad each year. The foreign minister told newsmen that no country has ever refused an Israeli offer for aid due to pressure from the Arab states.
